

The old shrine of human liberty inspires, in successive generations, the Spirit of 1776.

INDEPENDENCE HALL, PHILADELPHIA
The Old Cradle of Human Liberty

The Old Liberty Bell still rings out its message of patriotism to every listening American.

When, in the Course of Human Events, it becomes necessary to elect a President of the United States, to be their Chief Executive for four years, every citizen, entitled to vote, should not only conscientiously consider it to be his bounden duty to arrange his affairs so that he may cast a vote for the man of his choice, but

The Voter Should Consider:

- First: Whether a candidate occupying the office for four years has not made his record and had a sufficient trial of his ability;
- Second: Whether an abler man should not be selected and elected without delay;
- Third: Whether it is not self-evident that when the principles and traditions of a political party in power can count upon the nation's prosperity only by the continuation of the terrible war now raging, is it not the duty of the voters to decline to continue that party in power;
- Fourth: Whether existing conditions in the United States, neither light nor transient, affecting the safety, happiness and permanent foundations of prosperity of America, do not call upon all men to be patriots and act independent of partisanship, whenever needed;
- Fifth: Whether it is not time now to settle, conclusively, that inasmuch as his party proves that a Republican tariff that favored labor, in the past, has been the basis of the nation's prosperity, we must, without delay, declare and secure a President and the Congressmen to enact a Republican Tariff, and no longer depend upon war profits for American labor and prosperity;
- Sixth: Whether or not we approve of the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, elected to represent the people in legislative matters, being driven into any sudden action, without opportunity of having all the facts and figures of each particular question before them;
- Seventh: Whether or not we are willing that the sacred rights of workmen and employers shall be sacrificed by hasty interferences of a Chief Executive, under campaign influences;

BEST LAW FOR WAGE-EARNERS

No laws are of so much concern to the American wage-earner as laws which provide him abundant opportunity for employment and protect him against competition with the low-priced labor employed in manufacture abroad.

No Democratic tariff act does that. Every Republican tariff act does. Under the existing Underwood tariff the importations of all kinds are enormously increasing. In the single item of manufactures ready for consumption—the finished product of cheap labor and in direct competition with the workmen in this country—the imports for August this year were $32,628,991. This for a single month. For twelve months imports in this particular classification will amount at this rate to $391,547,892, an amount greater than any year under any Republican tariff.

When peace is restored there will be no limit to importations under the present non-protective tariff, and all these imports displace so much of American made goods in American markets. Unless a Republican President and Congress are elected next month the present tariff will remain in force.

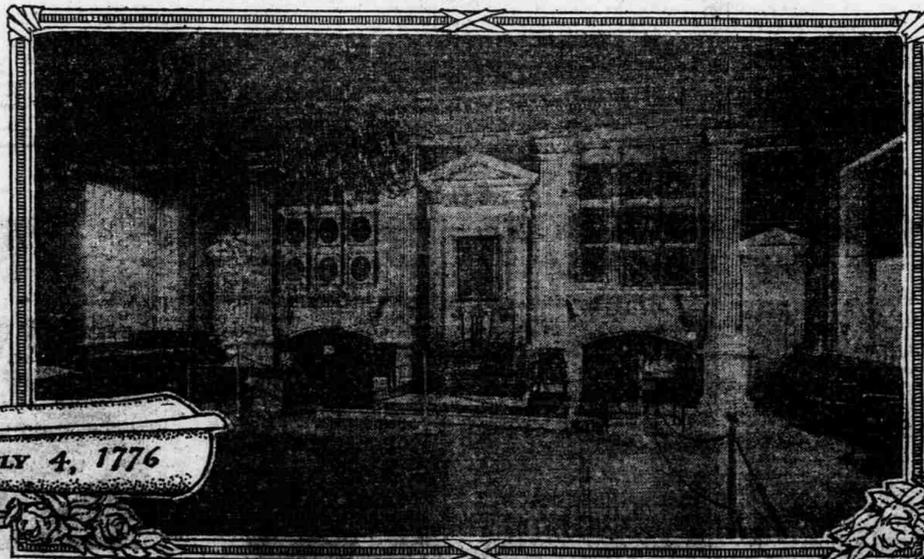

THEN VOTE FOR

Charles E. Hughes

for President

"Proper Protection Provides PERMANENT Prosperity"

Philadelphia House in which Thomas Jefferson wrote Declaration of Independence

Thomas Jefferson, writer of the Declaration of Independence

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776

The room in Independence Hall in which The Declaration of Independence was signed, including table and chairs used by the signers